

SHERIDAN, WYOMING

Howdy %%FIRST:Partner%%

Since its completion in 1913, Trail End – now the Trail End State Historic Site – has greeted thousands of visitors, from family and friends to school children and international tourists. . .

NEW FEATURES:

- Travel planning and itineraries
- Vacation Specials
- E-News Letters

Built by cowboy-turned-politician John B. Kendrick, Trail End displays an elegantly different aspect of both Wyoming's colorful ranching history and Sheridan's rich western heritage. For modern day visitors, Trail End offers a fun and educational experience, while touring the mansion.

New at Trail End this year is a whole-house exhibit entitled "Youngsters to be Proud Of: The Changing Nature of Childhood As Seen Through Three Generations of Kendrick Family Children. . ." Looking at an aspect of life we all experience, from infancy to the teenage years.
